

[REPLACEABLE GOLF CLUB FACE AND PROTECTIVE SHIELD]

Abstract

A golf club face and protective shield for adhesion to the face of a golf club is provided such that a renewed surface for proper back-spin is obtained. Adhesive holds the shield to the face of the golf club, and the striking surface is generally flat with a plurality of materials to mimic the surface of the face of a new golf club.